Comments: That there's no draft and no objection process, so this window is the whole public process. That waiving the scenery standards fourteen miles from Devils Tower deserves an alternative that doesn't require the waiver. That radioactive dust and groundwater drawdown need analysis people can read before a decision instead of after. That the notice names an endangered bat the company's own website says isn't out there. That tribal nations belong on the cooperating agency list Our history should not be able to be wiped away, something that was established in 1906 should be cherished and honored.
