

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 8/21/2026 2:06:59 PM

First name: William

Last name: Englert

Organization:

Title:

Comments: I visited Sweetwater a couple years ago. This is a magical place that needs to be left undisturbed. We have SO MUCH development happening all over Colorado. We need to preserve certain areas to be a bit more wild and weird. If folks want cabins and the likes, they can go to estes or granby or vail or aspen or steamboat or crested butte or etc etc etc for all the other places that have seen an incredible amount of development.

As a state that prides itself on being nature-oriented, we need to put energy behind creating spaces that are kept as they are and focusing development on other areas.

We should wait and see before developing. IF the visitors increase, then we develop. Dont develop trying to bring more visitors.

Alternative 1 is the way to go until there is a need to move to a different alternative. If not Alt 1, then at least Alt 3.