Comments: As a volunteer with Conservation Northwest, I've been involved firsthand with studying the tremendous success of wildlife crossings over and under I-90. My team maintains wildlife cameras near these crossings and every time we service the cameras, we are amazed at the countless animals whose lives now depend on the crossings: bears, deer, elk, and many more. Not only do the crossings ensure the survival of these already-threatened species, but they also save human lives and minimize car accidents. Please protect these crossings at all costs - permanently!
