Comments: Just wanted to put in my opinion that this is a step in the wrong direction for our Native fish and keystone species. I've always been very proud of how well Oregon stewards its environmental resources. It's not ethical and is in fact quite myopic to be suggesting clear cutting essential riparian habitat. Why would you propose allowing more livestock grazing (and by extension, methane release) in such a unique wild area? Please have a heart and a mindset geared towards the future. So much of our gorgeous state habitat has been compromised and chiseled away at over the years. Protect our water and forests - give them the respect they command.
