Comments: To whom it may concern, i oppose the massive thinning (logging) you have been conducting in our national forests. I am not against responsible thinning but the crews you hire have taken out too many trees, leaving insufficient canopy and soil water retention capacity. You are going to dry the forest out! The community of San Cristobal complained to Gabriel about the Shoddy work done in San Cristobal and Kiowa. Two hillsides almost completely burned by what you call jackpot burning.

I demand Lesser prescriptions on thinning that preserve elder trees and shade. Remove younger, sick, and dead trees (and leave some young ones too). We need trees in all stages of growth incase of a mass die off.

I demand an archeological reviews to ensure sacred sites, and earthen structures are maintained, including any thing that has ever served and any thing that still functions as a water retention structure.

I believe that most forest service workers get into this work because they love our forests and want to see to their wellbeing. However i do not believe that the orders coming from The federal National Forest Service "leaders" have the best interests of our forests in mind and heart. The slashings of funds, firing workers, and practically undoing protection on state parks proves that. Sincerely, Julian Laroza
