Comments: First, are those jobs new jobs or just jobs being filled by the lumber company's already employed people? Second, would this lumber be necessary if Trump didn't place tariffs on Canada? Third, who needs this lumber, housing in Alaska or for export? Finally, who reaps the benefits of culling this lumber, Alaskans or some billionaire from out of state?

The most critical problem we face is climate change. This just exacerbates climate change. There is no reason to despoil this natural wonder.
