Comments: Please consider the following comment for the Proposed Action Management Strategies document

1)Part D Experimental Forest, The CZO would like to to express interest in creating a Research Site designation for the Icacos river basin, this would highlight the value of important ongoing Research which is different from the El Verde or Bisley sites in that it drains through Quartz-Diorite bedrock. Continued long term measurements in this area are important for understanding variable weathering and hydrological processes across the mountains.
a.This should not imply exclusivity of use for research but only highlight the importance of ongoing research.
