Comments: I have been a resident of Albq since 1975. One of the main attractions of living here is the outdoor experiences that are right at our finger tips. I think a lot of other people share the same view. There is already more than sufficient wilderness and protected land around Albuquerque and in the east mountains. Mountain biking in the foothills of Albuquerque is an activity that hundreds if not thousands of residents and would-be residents enjoy and come to this area for. Please consider a plan that allows present trail access to all users from existing trail heads and along Tramway. The wilderness boundary is already plenty close to residential and open space areas. Additional wilderness area does not seem to be necessary or critical. What is important is to give equal access to all users. There seem to be as many mtn bike trail users as there are hikers and equal access would seem fair. Thank you for your consideration.
