Comments: radio tower comment

My concern as an amateur radio operator is there not be any tower locations disallowed. I am aware that some people consider them an eyesore and that some consider them unnecessary in this day and age. In an actual emergency (natural disaster, terrorist attack) amateur radio WILL get the messages passed along where it has been proven other methods have failed. We can't afford to lose ANY tower sites. I also believe fcc document PRB-1 (in short requires reasonable accommodations be granted to amateur operators) will apply in this matter. Not only are the tower sites necessary for amateur radio but also for law enforcement agencies.

Please do not let special interest groups cost us these assets.

Thank you for allowing me to vent.
