Comments: Forest Plan revision for Cibola National Forest

Hello,

I would like to express my unqualified support for increased wilderness in New Mexico under this plan, in all areas of the Cibola National Forest. Many of the proposed areas are fragile and potentially subject to resource development. Wild, roadless lands on the Cibola National Forest are essential to wildlife conservation, recreation and New Mexico's heritage. Only 2% of New Mexico is protected as federally designated wilderness, which is the smallest amount of any western state. We need permanent protections for New Mexico's wildlands. My family and friends frequently use these areas for recreation.

Thank you.
