Comments: Increasing wilderness areas in Cibola National Forest

Dear Sirs:

I am concerned about the addition of many acres of Forest Service land being converted to wilderness status, thus decreasing the access to those acres. I live in Gallup, New Mexico. We are practically surrounded by Indian Reservation lands which in itself keeps us from having access to many of the wonderful things this land has to offer. I do understand the need to protect and preserve so future generations can enjoy. But with limited areas of recreation in my area, I would hope than the plan is severely deterred in the Mt Taylor District.
