

Having followed many different gold companies over the past 50+ years, I have never seen one willing to go in and clean up what other have messed up and destroyed. If Perpetual is allowed to go in many of the past sins of others will be made right or as close a humanly possible. Perpetua has shown much good will even without being allowed to mine. The fish resources and other wildlife deserve the improvement from such a dedicated group.

Dan Blanton