Comments: Dear United States Forest Service,

My name is Kristina Lucore, my grandfather was greatly involved in the wilderness, whether by his job with the USFS, or his recreational activities, that he continued until his cancer and eventual death. He instilled the love of the wilderness in me. To me wilderness is not a logged hillside. It is not increased roads (that are already poorly maintained). It is not the destruction of headwater springs, unneeded death of wildlife, and eventually you and me, (give it enough time). What my grandpa knew I will never know. But maybe my great grandchildren can, if we can protect our wilderness, our old growth, our headwaters, our wildlife down to the smallest insect. The current administration is not friendly to protecting our future, I want my children to be at least be able to experience a small portion of the wild lands I have gotten to experience. It calls to you now, to please protect our future, our children's future, humanity and The United States future. Thank you for your time.

(Attached is just a really pretty photo of somewhere I would love to be able to take my children like my dad was able to take me, and his father him)
